DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claim 10 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 10 recites, "the allergens are dust or dust mites". However, the claim from which claim 10 depends, recites the "allergens" in functional terms only. It is unclear if applicant is claiming the "dust or dust mites" in combination with the encasement. The examiner respectfully requests clarification of the scope of claim 10. For the purpose of examination, will be considered to imply that the characteristics of the "material" are such that allergens the size of dust or dust mites is incapable of passing from the encasement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-7 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,049,938 to Jimison. See Figs. 12-20 of the Jimison patent and the related detailed description of Figs. 12-20.

Jimison discloses an encasement 50 for enclosing an object comprising an outer bag 58 made of a plastic film, an inner liner 60 of paper fiber, at least one window 54 wherein the object can be viewed inside the encasement and an enclosure 52, wherein the object can be enclosed inside the encasement.

Regarding claims 2 and 6, the clear outer bag 58 of Jimison meets applicant's recitation "see-through...stretchable material" to the degree that all materials have a degree of stretchability.

Regarding claim 3, the paper fiber liner 60 in Jimison meets applicant's recitation "disposable non-woven material".

Regarding claim 10, the characteristics of the plastic film used for the outer bag 58 inherently render the encasement of Jimison capable of preventing the passage of allergens, especially the size dust or dust mites.

Regarding the recitation "for enclosing as object that may cause an allergic reaction", in applicant's claims 1 and 5, has not been given patentable weight because it has been held that a preamble is denied the effect of a limitation where the claim is drawn to a structure and the portion of the claim following the preamble is a self-contained description of the structure not depending for completeness upon the introductory clause. Kropa v. Robie, 88 USPQ 478 (CCPA 1951).

Applicant's recitation "wherein the object is a child's toy or plaything" is intended use and not considered part of applicant's claimed invention, since the preamble sets forth "the object" in functional terms. Moreover, the encasement disclosed by Jimison meets applicant's claimed structure and is therefore, inherently capable of enclosing an object such as child's toy or plaything. A claim is anticipated if each element of the claim is found, either expressly described or under principles of inherency, in a single prior art reference, or that the claimed invention was previously known or embodied in a single prior art device or practice.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 07/05/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's remark that "the container of this invention is designed to contain allergens and that the object in the container is a child's toy or plaything" is not an indication of structural features within the claims, but rather the manner in which applicant's device is intended to be used. A recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim. In a claim drawn to a process of making, the intended use must result in a manipulative difference as compared to the prior art. See In re Casey, 370 F.2d 576,

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
